

4Ps

Development programmes for people in healthcare

Evaluation

For the first session you may wish to use a 'standard' evaluation form which gives general feedback.

Use a compilation of the comments later in the programme.

However, a great deal more real information is gained from subsequent sessions by giving participants a slip of paper and asking them to write comments and reflections on how the session went.

Respond to comments at the following session to model acting on feedback